

SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH IN THE NEWS

Earth's Early History

Fuel from Water

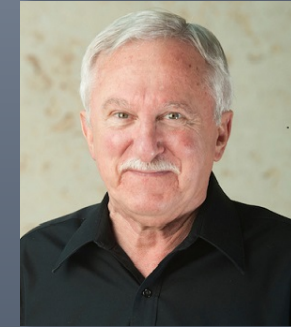

Stronger Bonds, Less Energy

2015 NOBEL LAUREATES SUPPORTED BY NSF

Chemistry awarded to Tomas Lindahl, Paul Modrich and Aziz Sancar for research on how cells repair damaged DNA and protect genetic information.

- Paul Modrich (Howard Hughes Medical Institute & Duke University School of Medicine)
 - NSF Graduate Fellowship
 - 3 BIO awards
- Aziz Sancar (University of North Carolina)
 - BIO Presidential Young Investigator award

Economic Sciences to Angus Deaton for his analysis of consumption, poverty and welfare.

- Angus Deaton (Princeton University)
 - 2 SBE awards

At the White House

Smart Cities Initiative

Open Science & Crowdsourcing

Next Generation High School Summit

Around the District

International Year of Light

Golden Goose Awards

SPECIAL EVENTS

Community College Innovation Challenge

NSF Brussels Office

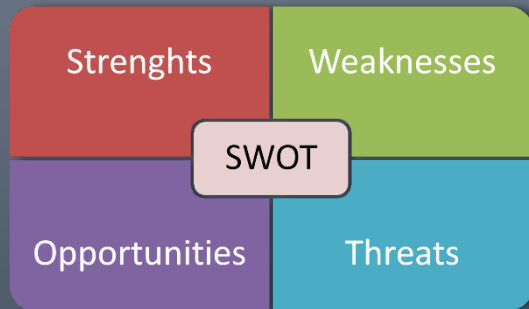

John Holdren addresses GEO AC

2015 Director's Awards

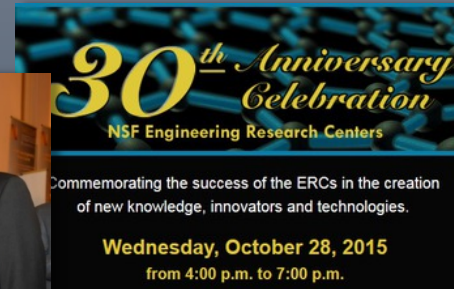

VISITS

NSF Directorates and Offices

On the Hill

Texas Research Summit

University of Illinois ERC

Dark Matter, Gran Sasso, Italy

WELCOME HOME POLAR EXPLORERS!

